ALFRED F. PANINTOMAS SARANT
ESPIONAGE - R

Report SA Peter F. Maxson made at Albany, 7-5-57.

In view of the impending holiday season this case should be reopened and contact should be made with your sources of information in the instant case in Ithaca, New York, to determine if Sarant contacts his wife and children during the holiday season.

New York should contact members of the Sarant family to determine if he contacts any of them during the holiday season.

The results of this investigation conducted in both offices should be submitted in report form.

2 - New York (65-15360)

NOTE: Sarant was associated with the Julius Rosenberg network and occupied an apartment in Greenwich Village, New York City. He left this apt. in 1946 and until 1950 it was rented in his name; however, the rent was paid by different members of the Rosenberg network. In 8/50 Sarant fled the U.S. after preliminary questioning by Bureau Agents and his present whereabouts is unknown. When he fled he took with him Carol Dorothy Dayton, wife of his next-door neighbor.

Believed advisable to check to determine if Sarant will contact any members of his family.

ALFRED SARANT

Reference is made to your request of December 22, 1961, for information regarding the association between James Americus Guida, born February 17, 1917, at New York City, and the captioned individual. The files of this Bureau reveal that Lieutenant Commander James A. Guida, Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, New Jersey, was interviewed by Agents of this Bureau on July 14, 1950, concerning Alfred Sarant. He stated he had known Alfred Sarant since his senior year at Hempstead High School, Hempstead, New York.

Guida stated the last correspondence he had with Alfred Sarant was a Christmas card from Sarant telling him of his being a contractor. He stated the last time he saw Alfred Sarant was in April, 1945, when the USS 'Benjamin Franklin' was at the Brooklyn Navy Yard after a cruise and he took Sarant through the ship.

Guida further advised that he considered Sarant a good friend of his and during his college days saw him about once every three to six months. He stated that Sarant, as well as himself, had a very heavy schedule in college and, as a result, did not see each other more often.

Lieutenant Commander Guida volunteered the information that Sarant is for the "under privileged," but felt he was never a member of the Communist Party. He stated Sarant had talked him into subscribing to a small pamphlet named 'In Fact,' by George Seldes. He stated that he and Sarant had discussed the press of this country and felt it did not give a true picture, being somewhat biased, and this was one of the reasons he purchased 'In Fact.' In connection with this, Guida also volunteered that due to his opinion of the press he reads 'The Nation' and 'The New Republic' in order to get a better picture of happenings.

Alfred Sarant

"In Fact" has been cited as "a Communist front whose president and editor is George Seldes" by the United States House of Representatives Special Committee on Un-American Activities.

Guida further stated that Sarant and he both had a great admiration for the Russian war effort during World War II and often discussed it. He also advised that Sarant had never visited him anywhere with the exception that he (Guida) had looked up Sarant during the war in order to take him for a tour through the USS "Benjamin Franklin." He also looked him up in New York City where he went through the 42nd Street plant of the Western Electric Company where Sarant was working on radar.

Guida advised that Sarant had never requested him to give any information concerning the work he was doing in the United States Navy, and further stated that Sarant was working on more highly classified work than he during the war while employed with the Western Electric Company.

NOTE: Alfred Sarant is the subject of an espionage-R (65-59242) investigation. He was a member of Julius Rosenberg espionage ring and he fled the United States in 1950 after having been questioned concerning his espionage activities. ESPIONAGE - R

RICHARD JOSEPH DAVISSON, Visiting Associate Professor in Physics, University of Washington, Seattle, was interviewed on 6/14/62 and advised he became acquainted with LOUISE SARANT approximately sometime in 1950 and subsequently became better acquainted with her in the latter part of 1950 and 1951, after her husband, ALFRED SARANT, fled from the United States with one CAROL DAYTON. DAVISSON advised that during his association with LOUISE SARANT they did not discuss "politics" and claimed she did not reveal to him any details of any connection between ALFRED SARANT and the JULIUS ROSENBERGS or MORTON SOBELL. He was aware that ALFRED SARANT had left the country reportedly because of some apartment which he may have shared either with ROSENBERG or SOBELL. DAVISSON gained impression LOUISE SARANT was not a Communist Party member, but was in agreement with some Communist principles. DAVISSON said he was not acquainted with ALFRED SARANT, or other persons mentioned as being possible associates of ALFRED SARANT. He said LOUISE SARANT never gave indication she was involved in any espionage activity. He remarked he still visits LOUISE SARANT on occasion. Other comments of DAVISSON set forth.

DETAILS

AT SEATTLE, WASHINGTON
On June 14, 1962, RICHARD JOSEPH DAVISSON was interviewed by SAS and furnishes the following information:

During the past academic school year, he has been employed as a Visiting Associate Professor in the Physics Department, University of Washington. On June 15, 1962, his contract expires, and he is going on a cruise to Alaska during the summer of 1962 with friends.

He attended Cornell University and was employed at this University as a Research Assistant and Teaching Assistant from about September, 1948, to June, 1956. In approximately early 1950, he became acquainted with LOUISE ROSS-SARANT, who was then married to one ALFRED SARANT. The SARANTS had a place on Lake Cayuga and had social acquaintances at Cornell, although DAVISSON does not specifically recall who these persons were at present. He believed he probably met LOUISE SARANT through some of her friends at Cornell and did not know her well until after the summer of 1950. He said he did not personally know ALFRED SARANT.

At this point, DAVISSON remarked that the interview with him reminded him of a cartoon he once observed in the New Yorker magazine, depicting a young good-looking, voluptuous girl being questioned by the committee formerly headed by the late Senator JOSEPH MCCARTHY, concerning her association with a certain man. In response to a question, the girl replied, "I can assure you we were not discussing politics."

DAVISSON related that in approximately the summer of 1950, ALFRED SARANT reportedly fled from the United States, taking with him one CAROL DAYTON, who was the wife of BRUCE DAYTON and a neighbor of the SARANTS. DAVISSON said he was not aware of the exact reason ALFRED SARANT fled from the United States but said this happened soon after the arrest of JULIUS and ETHEL ROSENBERG and MORTON SOBELL, who were later convicted on charges of espionage. He said there was a rumor around Ithaca, New York, that ALFRED SARANT was somehow linked... to either SOBELL or the ROSENBERGS through an apartment house, which he may have shared with them or where they met.

DAVISSON did not believe CAROL DAYTON was implicated in the political activities of ALFRED SARANT, and presumably left with SARANT due to boredom with her own domestic life.

DAVISSON continued that after ALFRED SARANT left the United States, he saw LOUISE SARANT more often and became better acquainted with her. He said it was his impression that the SARANTS were opposite in temperament, ALFRED reportedly being a very "intense" person, and LOUISE extremely "relaxed", and one who had very little concern over the appearance of her house. He believed they would have separated even if ALFRED SARANT had not fled the country.

DAVISSON recalled that during the period 1950 - 1951, nearly everyone discussed the ROSENBERG and SOBELL cases; however, he cannot recall LOUISE SARANT ever indicating ALFRED SARANT had in any way been involved in the activities for which the ROSENBERGS and SOBELL were arrested. He said it was his impression that LOUISE SARANT was not a member of the Communist Party, as she was not the "joining type", but that she had indicated she was in agreement with some of the idealistic principles of the Communist Party. She never indicated that she had been involved in any subversive activity in behalf of the Communist Party or any other country.

DAVISSON, in response to a question, said he has never been acquainted with JOEL BARR, WILLIAM PERL, HENRIETTA SAVIDGE, or MAX ELITCHER, who have been mentioned previously during investigation as possible associates of ALFRED SARANT.

He commented that he is poor at corresponding with people but still visits on occasion with LOUISE SARANT, "when I'm in that section of the country".
The files of the United States Department of Justice reflect that JULIUS and ETHEL ROSENBERG were arrested in July, 1950, on charges of conspiracy to transmit secrets of the Atomic bomb to the USSR.

Following conviction, their case was unsuccessfully appealed to higher courts, including the United States Supreme Court.

They were executed in June, 1953.

The files of the United States Department of Justice reflect that MORTON SOBELL, after the arrest of the JULIUS ROSENBERGS in July, 1950, fled to Mexico, where he was arrested on charges of violation of the Espionage Conspiracy Statute on August 18, 1950. On April 5, 1951, he was sentenced to thirty years imprisonment in a Federal penitentiary.

At the conclusion of the interview, DAVISSON commented that with respect to the ROSENBERG case, he had the following comments to make:

1. He felt the judge's instructions to the jury were inappropriate in stating that the action of the ROSENBERGS may have resulted in the Soviets feeling they were in a position to start the Korean war. DAVISSON said this was merely an opinion on the part of the judge, and may or may not have been in accordance with the true facts.

2. The plea by the defense and those in sympathy with the ROSENBERGS, that clemency should be shown them because of their children was "peanuts", when the true nature and consequences of the crime as charged, are considered.
3. DAVISSON knew DAVID GREENGLASS at Las Alamos, and considered him to be an extremely "weak character", as evidenced by the fact that (a) he allowed himself to be recruited into working for the ROSENBERGS in Soviet espionage, and (b) he then readily seized the opportunity to turn Government witness to save himself. DAVISSON said he felt little or no credence should have been placed in the testimony of GREENGLASS.

DAVISSON then went on to express his opinion that every United States Attorney General who has held office has been "frustrated", due to their inability to convict some of the big "hoodlums and gamblers", principally due to our constitutional "safeguards" against the admission of certain kinds of evidence. He felt these safeguards are important and should not be compromised.

DAVISSON then stated he had one question to put to us, which of course we might not feel we could answer. He then asked why it is necessary after some eleven or twelve years to still pursue something that took place so long ago.

It was politely explained to him that our investigations are confidential, and we cannot divulge the reasons for our inquiry.

DAVISSON commented that it was common knowledge around Lake Cayuga, New York, that the FBI had interviewed and re-interviewed LOUISE SARANT so many times, asking the "same questions"; that she finally refused to talk to them. He concluded with the remark, "Well, I guess it's a living".

He denied ever engaging in espionage for the Soviets. Sarant shortly thereafter fled from the United States.

Re Albany letter to Bureau, 3/9/66.

Subject's whereabouts are still unknown and it is noted he has been missing since 1950. On 7/29/66, VICTOR K. D. ROSS, subject's father-in-law, voluntarily discussed the subject and his family with SA PETER F. MAXSON. ROSS stated that he himself had been laid up for several months because of a heart attack and that his step-daughter LOUISE (subject's wife) is also in poor health. She has rheumatoid arthritis which is worsening. ROSS stated that the SARANT children have often wondered about their father and he noted it has been almost 16 years since he disappeared and he again positively claimed that no word has ever been received from or about the subject since his disappearance. He said LOUISE works on a part-time basis as a babysitter and as a typist but that she has no regular or steady employment because of her poor health.
